Into Oblivion - Steam Demo Hotfix And Itch.io Release:

Hey, anonymous alcoholics! Today we are pushing a small patch to the Steam demo that fixes some CTD issues. And on a related (Steam) note, we will be issuing the full game's first update post release early next week.

But more exciting than that, today we are releasing the Itch.io demo! It has all the same features and missing content that the Steam demo has. The only real difference is the game will refer to you as "Demo Player" as it has no way of acquiring your name. No big deal, right? This version will also save your stats and achievements in case you want to get the full version down the road.

Give it a try and drink those random bots to death in Tutorial mode!. Patch Notes 1.1:

The first major Fly Flew Flown update is here! It mostly contains changes to the UI of the game and a few notable additions such as controller support.

First of all, we would like to apologize for not including controller support at launch. While adding it, we also took our time to change and add much needed things.

The biggest changes are to the UI of the game. Picking up power ups is now giving more feedback to the player. We also adjusted the UI during flight to make it simpler. Crashing is a big part of Fly Flew Flown, so now it feels more like crashing with the new death screen. One of the most notable changes is the new menu layout. Now your vehicle and its skin are with you on every part of the main menu. Speaking of vehicles, with the adjustments to their attributes, now each of them feels unique.

On top of these, there are several additions to the game. Alongside with controller support, we added new shapes to the procedural generation. Ring and pyramid shapes bring so much variation to the gameplay. One of the most important changes, for us, is the new camera movement during flight. Now camera feels much more responsive to movement with this update. Also, we added the ability to go back on menus with the ESC button.

There are many more things we changed and added with this update. Here is the full list:

Hey everyone Krathan here!

Friends list and Guild List are now combined under the "Social" UI and bring a set of quality of life features targeted at social interactions in the game.

The long-awaited Lost Halls rework is also finally here!

Also, we would like to make it clear that we're taking stalking, harassing and griefing other players seriously and have made some behind the scenes changes in order to prevent such behaviors. We will continue to do so.

As always, there are a bunch of new fixes. Plus, Thessal and her Coral Gifts have received the HP scaling treatment!

Now, onto the patch notes.
